

HOW TO OBTAIN A NEW MEXICO JOURNEYMAN CERTIFICATE

In New Mexico, electrical, mechanical and plumbing work must be performed by, or under the supervision of, someone who has a journeyman certificate for the classification of work being performed. Therefore, even if you have a contractor's license in one or more of those classifications, you must also be, or employ, a certified journeyman to perform the work.

ONE: Determine the certificate classification required to do the work you plan to perform. Journeymen classifications can be found in New Mexico Administrative Code, Title 14, Chapter 6, Part 6 at www.nmcpr.state.nm.us.

IMPORTANT NOTE: If uncertain of the proper classification, submit a Classification Determination form to PSI along with a detailed description of the work to be performed. If a journeyman certificate is required in connection with work that will be awarded based on a competitive bidding process, be sure to include a copy of the project scope of work. To ensure clear communication, responses to Classification Determination Form requests are not made by phone. Forms are available online at public.psiexams.com. A written Classification Determination will be mailed or faxed to you.

TWO: Submit complete application packet.

2. Complete, legible, signed and notarized work experience verification form for EACH classification you wish to test for. All experience must have been gained while employed by a contractor licensed in the trade being applied for, or considered legal work in the state in which the work was performed. There are some limited exceptions to the work experience requirement. Military, volunteer and home owner experience may be used in some circumstances.
